LOCAL MARYLAND COMPANY GETS NATIONAL RECOGNITION

Lanham, MD, June 2006 — Maryland-based G&G Outfitters, Inc., specializing in promotional products for large corporate clients, has been recognized as the sixth largest volume screen printer in the nation by IMPRESSIONS Magazine, the industry's premier trade publication, in their Annual "Winner's Circle" edition.

IMPRESSIONS Magazine is the foremost trade magazine serving the decorated apparel and imprinted products industry. Their "Winner's Circle" edition ranks the screen printing companies across the nation that have produced the most volume in the previous calendar year. With a total of 15% increase from their previous year, G&G Outfitters finished 2005 with over 7 million units printed.

Based in Lanham, Maryland G&G Outfitters has grown from humble local beginnings as a fundraising idea for University of Maryland fraternity brothers, Rich Gergar and Doug Gardner, to a 95,000 square foot production powerhouse that serves Fortune 500 companies across the U.S. G&G Outfitters provides a wide-range of top quality promotional products and boasts an on-site production facility with printing, embroidery, finishing and graphic design capabilities. Along with a satellite sales office in Wilmington, Delaware, G&G's full-service overseas procurement division, G&G International, is located just outside of Denver, Colorado.
